

In this problem, I basically use the example in the book and adapt from salesman.py. I use the probability of acceptance same as the salesman program and using the same cooling schedule to perform the function, The temperature Tmin, Tmax and tau works fine for both of my program, too.